We came in September.
Some of us returning,
Some of us for the first time,
Some of us never left.
It was a time
To catch up on Old friends, Old teachers and Old habits.

I shall pass through
This world but once,
Any good therefore
That I can do
Or any kindness
I can show
To any human being,
Let me do it now.
Let me not defer
Or neglect it,
For I shall not pass
This way again

Homecoming Memories '73

Homecoming was a week of rush, rush, rush just like always. The week of preparation ended with the announcement of the Homecoming Court: Brenda Thurmond Queen, Debbie Tatum 1st runner-up, Debbie Walker 2nd runner-up, and Christi Arrington 3rd runner-up. The Afro Club won the float competition for the parade; Alumni Hall won the dorm display. The Homecoming Game was packed with excitement as the Troy State Trojans defeated the Florence State Lions 36-7. Also this game was selected to host the first appearance of the Trojan complete with white horse. The Saturday homecoming ended with parties, parties and more parties. The perfect end to a perfect day.

1973 Homecoming More Memories

At the Alumni Luncheon, prior to the football game, George M. Hudson, Director of the Division of Rehabilitation and Crippled Children with the State Department of Education was honored as Alumnus of the Year in the field of business and education, and Rex M. Mixson, Superintendent of the Pensacola, Fla. District of the United Methodist Church's Alabama-West Florida Conference was honored as Alumnus of the Year in field of professionalism. Plaques were presented by Rev. C.E. Bradley and Mr. Virgil Collins. (pictured below.)

Honors Day 1974

Honors Day at Troy State is a day set aside for the recognition of excellence in scholarship and leadership. While Honors Day is to primarily recognize outstanding students, it also seeks to encourage all students to apply their full energy and intelligence in developing their potential and in attaining higher goals than those previously established for themselves.

At Honors Day, May 24, 1974, not only were awards presented, but new members were tapped into the University honor societies ODK, Phi Kappa Phi, Adelphees, Spires and Gamma Beta Phi. Also, those students selected for "Who's Who In American Colleges and Universities" were recognized.

Graduation 1974

This year, Troy State University graduated a record number of students. The exercises were held in Smith Auditorium June 7, 1974 at 11:00 a.m. John K. McKinley, president of Texaco Inc. and a member of that company's board of directors delivered the commencement address. Mr. McKinley was awarded one of the few honorary Doctorate of Laws degrees ever conferred by TSU, in recognition of his "combination of service, science and citizenship which Troy State University commends and applauds."

The New Buildings

Construction on the new University Center, to be named after Dr. Ralph W. Adams, began Fall quarter 1973. The building will replace Smith Hall as the University Student Center. In addition to office space and other facilities, it will provide students with a larger cafeteria, a game room, and a study area. The $2 million building will be two stories with a ball room on the second floor. The University Center will provide Tray State University with a much needed modern facility.

Aided by a Federal Interest Subsidy Grant, Troy State has begun the conversion of Dill Hall from a boys dormitory to a modern apartment complex for students. It will offer students the convenience of on campus living with the privacy of off campus living. The apartments will be pleasantly furnished including shag carpet and will have kitchens. As soon as a completion date is announced, the University will take applications from those members of the student body who would like to take advantage of the convenience of these apartments.

The Streakers 1974

February 20, 1974 began as any other day does at Troy State University, only it was not just any other day. By as early as 9:00 a.m., the grapevine was buzzing of a streak and excitement filled the student body. As the morning slowly wore on, the excitement mounted and at 11:50 the quad was filled with almost as many students and faculty as could be seen at a Troy State football game. The rumored streak was supposed to take place at 12:00 noon. As many students watched anxiously, time passed, and at approximately 12:15 p.m., from the doorway of Kilby Hall came two brave nudes clad in tennis shoes and masks. While the students cheered wildly, they ran across the quad, between Wright and McCall Halls, through the parking lot to Hamil Hall where they jumped into the waiting get-away car and sped away unapprehended.

Why all the excitement over something that was happening everywhere? The answer could be that when something is happening almost everywhere else, it is generally happening everywhere but Troy State University. For years, we have been one of the most conservative campuses in the South and the fact that we had streakers, too, made students realize that we weren't any different from any other college students in the nation. We are just as crazy, and besides, it was something to talk about for the rest of the week.

In 1973 in February, Troy State was snowed-in by 11 inches of snow which for South Alabama was an event. In 1974 in February, Troy State experienced its first streakers. Perhaps a tradition has been started for February at TSU; so, watch out in 1975.

The Department of History and Social Science added two new members this year. Dr. John Bowling, a former Foreign Service officer with the State Department, joined as a political scientist and Mrs. Bernodette Grant, who is completing her Ph.D. at Mississippi State, joined as a sociologist.

Mr. Glynn Eilond began courses in the Law Enforcement program. He was tentatively assigned to work within this department. This program has proven very popular and will no doubt grow rapidly. Former Governor John Patterson continued offering one night class per quarter. He taught a course in State and Local Government which students found both relevant and provocative.

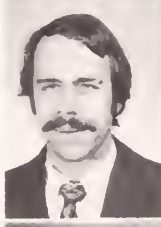

History professors in Alabama organized into the Alabama Association of Historians to work together for the improvement of history teaching in the state. Several members of the Troy State University faculty joined the association and the chairman, Dr. Tway, was elected Secretary-Treasurer.

Because of the increasing popularity of sociology, plans are underway to increase course offerings and to seek approval for a major in this field.

The department missed daily contact with Mr. Paul Mussleman who retired in 1973, having taught at TSU since 1956.

In 1962, he wrote the all-time bestseller on education, Suffer, Little Children. A speech he delivered in 1961, "The Passing of the Patriot," has been described as the most controversial speech on education has made in the last generation.

Rafferty's first visit to Troy State was in 1970 when he delivered the commencement address, a speech that since has been reprinted twice.

He has authored five books, and other writings by Rafferty have received recognition in several national publications.

A lifelong career teacher and administrator in California schools, Rafferty is a graduate of U.C.L.A. and the holder of an earned doctorate in education from the University of Southern California and honorary doctoral degrees from Lincoln University and Brigham Young.

They were there with a smile, a pom-pom and a cheer

The TSU cheerleader squad was plagued with many problems this year. Fall quarter two squad members were lost—one to illness and one to academic disaster. Winter quarter the cheerleaders had a disagreement with the SGA over the cheerleaders' attendance at home basketball games. The disagreement resulted in the cheerleaders being in action at the home games. All the cheerleaders were present at most basketball games except for captain, Mike Dagostin, who appeared at very few.

All in all, the cheerleaders did a remarkable job considering the problems of the year. They were there with a smile, a pam-pam, and a cheer.

The Student Government Association

The Student Government Association was more active this year than last year. Near the end of President Lorry Free and Vice President Debbie Totum's administration, they were interviewed by the Tropic and their basic comment on their administration was: "if we had more time, we could have put into practice what we've already learned." It seems the plight of all SGA administrations is that they find out too late the things they needed to know to begin with.

Debbie Totum said that considering the obstacles she had encountered she was pleased with the administration's accomplishments. The SGA has sponsored some outstanding movies for student entertainment and as far as Big Name entertainment goes, there was quantity and no quality. The SGA was responsible for getting the cheerleaders to appear at basketball games and getting women's extramural sports $2500 to finance their activities.

The SGA has no definite purpose on the Tray State Campus. It is up to all the students to make it work because all students on campus are members of the SGA. The student government is only as good as the students it represents.

Reflections of the 1973 Football Season

by Gary Stegner

Tom Jones told sportswriters and sportscasters prior to the 1973 football season that a long and hard road was ahead for Troy State. Upperclassmen were almost non-existent in TSU's line up and as Jones put it, "We're going to line up a bunch of fuzzy-cheeked youngsters that love to play . . . I'm sure we'll be proud of them."

And as it turned out, Jones and his entire staff was proud. TSU gridders, fielding their first team under the title "Trojans" romped their way to a Gulf South Conference title—a surprise finish, if anything, in college division football.

Coaches in the GSC ranked TSU fifth in a pre-season poll, and at the time, many considered the lowly ranking a compliment. Pre-season national polls didn't recognize TSU, but when it was finished the story had taken an about face.

The Trojans ended up 7-2-1 and maintained a lofty national ranking for nine consecutive weeks. Post season honors rained down on Troy, its players and head coach. The GSC named Jones "Coach of the Year," as did the NAIA District 27.

Offensive center Mork King splashed his name across the national news media with Associated Press, first team All-American plaudits. Defensive tackle Dennis Anderson and Mike Culbertson were honorable mention AP All-Americans and other post-season all-star squads read like a Trojan roster.

To say it was all sweet would be erroneous, unjust, and not place proper credit on the attitudes of the players and coaches. The season started at nothing—a 15-15 tie with Northeast Louisiana. Fans could not tell if Troy was a winner or loser because little had been proved to the fans back home on the playing surface in Monroe, Louisiana.

But five days later, the season was made. Troy faced talented Livingston University in Montgomery's Crampton Bowl—always a classic conference rivalry. Livingston went out in front early by six and Troy battled for its life and accomplished the impossible in the final seconds of the rain-soaked game.

Tailback Johnny Grimes, who would later win all-GSC honors, skirted around right end from two yards out for the game tying touchdown with less than two minutes showing. Freshman Steve Williams, whose missed extra points against NE Louisiana were in the back of his mind, booted true and Troy had its first win of the season.

In the weeks that followed, Troy's offense and defense complimented each other. GSC foe Nicholls State was dealt a 42-7 defeat. Ouachita Baptist fell 17-7, conference opponents SE Louisiana went down 24-0, Delta State fell 17-10 and Florence was the subject of a TSU Homecoming at the tune of 36-7.

Then the six game winning streak came to a screeching halt. Troy travelled to Lake Charles, La. to meet always powerful McNeese State. Troy had the deep South's only undefeated college division record and the Cowboys forced Troy into numerous crucial situations. McNeese came out ahead 21-6 and the hopes of an undefeated season had vanished.

Troy rallied and iced away the conference title with a 30-0 blistering of Tennessee Martin—a game where Troy's offense clicked with the precision it lacked the week before. The defense was as rugged as ever and would soon lack away the honor of being the best in the conference.

Rival Jacksonville State came to town loaded with the hopes of spoiling Troy's conference claim to fame and the Gomecocks walked away from Memorial Stadium with just that. Jacksonville used a 28-point flurry in the second quarter to win it 38-14 and Troy's GSC title and No. 3 ranking in the nation were again blemished.

When the dust settled, Jones looked at the 7-2-1 finish with a smile of surprise. He credited the success to the attitude and determination of the team as well as the preparation by his staff.

"I would have been the last person to figure us as conference champions before the season started," Jones said after it was over. "It (the GSC title) was something we wanted, but in our ten games, at least seven teams had superior quantity and quality. Our men didn't give up and they should be admired.

The GSC title was Troy's second in three years of league play. King's AP All-American status as a first-teamer was a first for the school, as was his being named UPI's "National Lineman of the Week" on two occasions during the year. But others played a monumental role.

The NAIA also honored safety Tony Myrick, Dennis Anderson, and offensive guard Donnie Jones. All-GSC selections included King, Anderson, Grimes and Culbertson.

Jones said youth was the key factor along with ambition, determination and a sense of oneness throughout the squad. The "fuzzy-cheeked youngsters that loved to play," had done what no one else in Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Tennessee had figured on—Troy State, the Gulf South Conference 1973 Football Champions.

Basketball 1974

Another frustrating, disappointing year.

The Tray State University Basketball team began the season with high hopes for a winning season. They had many things going for them including a new coach. Freshmen like Carl Hallis and David Felix gave the Trajans a boost. Hallis paced the Trajans this year with his 17.1 points per game average, and 11.0 rebounding norm and a .813 free throw average. Felix had a 13.8 scoring average. Senior guard Charles Carnelius was a close second to Felix with a 12.6 points per game and James Cleveland, a senior forward, was fourth in scoring with 11.7 points per game average. The team finished the season with a 9-16 record.

Women's Extramurals

This year was the first year that women's extramurals have been funded at TSU and it has proven very successful. Competition was held in volleyball, basketball, tennis, golf, and track and field with other schools in Alabama, Georgia, Florida and Mississippi. Any full time female student at TSU is eligible to try out for women's sports. Girls from all areas of academic endeavors participate. Some of the best basketball players this year were invited to attend nationals in Gallup, New Mexico, but were unable to go because of lack of funds.

INTRAMURALS

Intramural sports at Troy State University are as exciting as intercollegiate sports. Football competition is the fall quarter intramural sport, basketball during winter quarter and softball action takes place spring quarter. The intramurals always have a good spectator turnout and are a good way to spend the afternoon.

The Tournaments

The number of tournaments this year has been amazing. There have been ping-pong tournaments, hand-ball tournaments, tennis tournaments, and biggest of all, the pool tournaments. With the new game room at Eldridge Hall opening, the pool sharks have come out of the woodwork. There has been a tournament for the entire student body, and one for fraternities and one for sororities.

Years ago the idea of playing pool carried all sorts of bad connotations for those who played. Today things are changing and even the ladies are playing.

THE PARADE

The Greek activities of Greek Week are the highlight of Greek's spring quarter. The parade to the stadium for the games is one of those rare times when all the different sororities and fraternities get together as one big group.

The Greek games consisted of the girls' competitions: pie eating, flour digging, egg throwing and the Theta Chi Grand Prix. The boys' competitions were track and field events.

The number of Greeks on Troy's campus make up a crowd when they all get together, but they don't get together often enough. Greek Week 1974 gave the Greeks this thought, "united we stand; divided we fall", and a new outlook on the Greek system.

MISS VENUS

The Miss Venus pageant brings much excitement to the Greeks as well as the independent. Miss Venus reigns over the Greek Week activities and is featured in the Greek parade. This year, Lynn Carlisle was crowned as Miss Venus. Lynn is a member of Alpha Delta Pi and was sponsored by Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity. First runner-up was Susan Davidson, an Alpha Gamma Delta sponsored by Delta Chi Fraternity; second runner-up was Degie Lake, a Phi Mu sponsored by Pi Kappa Phi; third runner-up was Gayle Beasley, a Kappa Delta sponsored by Kappa Delta and the fourth runner-up was Janet Wilkinson, an Alpha Gamma Delta sponsored by Pi Kappa Phi.

The Fraternity Life

206

The fraternity life style is a little out of the norm. For those who live in a fraternity house, it is an endless stream of cards, beer and noise. Life at the frat house is a learning experience because one learns to accept responsibility and to tolerate almost anybody and anything.

When one comes back to the frat house of his college days, it will be basically the same as he left it—full of composites, trophies, cards and beer. All of these will remind him of days gone by and assure him that his fraternity lives on.

Many hours of planning and practice go into the making of a Miss Alabama preliminary pageant. The planning was done by Mrs. Sharon Benton, Palladium Advisor and stage production was handled by Mr. and Mrs. James Mahaffey.

Thirty-four contestants worked very hard at three rehearsals to learn a production number and their own talent routines. The contestants attended a tea given by Mrs. Ralph Adams, the rehearsals and finally an all day pageant.

The Pageant was emceed by Mr. Phil Snow from WSFA-TV, Montgomery. Miss TSU 1973, Miss Brenda Thurmond made her farewell appearance. Upon completion of a very long and tiring day of judging, four girls emerged as the winners—three runners-up—and Miss TSU 1974.

The eleven semi-finalists were chosen from a field of thirty-four contestants. They presented their talent during the pageant to a capacity crowd at Smith Auditorium. The girls also competed in swimsuit and evening gown.

For some of these girls, this was the first time they had ever competed in a contest of this nature. Each semi-finalist walked on stage with an almost unimaginable case of nerves and excitement. The audience was never aware however, because each semi-finalist gave an excellent performance and made the pageant a success.

JUST US

There are some of us who are always in the limelight and then there are the rest of us who are just us. We go to class, participate in extracurricular activities and for the most part are Tray State University. This is a tribute to us, just us.

The Everyday
People

The world is not yet finished but is understood as engaged in history.
It is therefore the world of possibilities, the world in which we can serve the future,
promised truth and righteousness and peace.
This is an age of diaspora, of sowing in hope, of self-surrender and sacrifice, of it is an age which stands within the horizon of a new future

Off Campus Living The Married Life

There is much to be said for living off-campus, especially if you're married. Most married students lead a quiet, simple life because they can't afford any other lifestyle. It is an endless stream of television, study, friends and in-laws.

The Game Room

This year the university opened a game room at Eldridge Hall. The game room contains pool tables, basketball machines and soccer tables is opened to all students at the university.

When the new university center is opened in January, the equipment will be moved to the center's recreational room. This year the facility has sponsored pool tournaments for the Greeks and independents and has been something to do besides watch television.

As the song says:

"It's a long long road from which there is no return."

Your college days are unique and there is no way to return to them once they are past.

Make the most of what is yours today for you will never pass this way again.

We all have to take chances in life
 And mankind would be vastly poorer if it had not been for men who were willing to take risks against the longest odds.
 Even if it could be done,
 we would be foolish to try to stamp out this willingness in man to buck seemingly hopeless odds.
 Our problem is how to remain properly venturesome and experimental without making fools of ourselves.
 The true speculator is one who observes the future and acts before it occurs.

Bernard Boruch

I am a true adorer of life

Saul Bellow
Henderson the Rain King

Man is in the process of fashioning himself.
He still gropes
to understand his goals and is well aware that their accomplishment lies in the remote future.
Yet he is also aware that the tempo has increased, that the utopias of today are the commonplaces of tomorrow.
Man today finds that he is autcreative.
A radically new age is coming—new in every dimension.

Karl Rahner

Although liberty is dangerous . . .
It is still the safest

Every person must have a concern for self,
and feel a responsibility to discover his mission in life.
God has given each normal person a capacity to achieve some end.
True, some are endowed with more talent than others, but God has left none of us talentless.
Potential powers of creativity are within us,
and we have the duty to work assiduously to discover these powers.

Martin Luther King

If personolity

The Greet Gotsby

To what does the whole business tend?
 Why, how in heaven's name should I know?
 We can be but content to note that all goes forward, toward something.
 We are companents of an unfinished world.
 We are being made into something quite unpredictable.
 And through the purging and the smelting, we are sustained by an instinctive knowledge that we are being made into something better.

James Branch Cabell

We must take man as essentially a wishing, desiring being who, in this exalted sense, must at all costs
be in contact with his own wishes.
Where there is no wishing there can be no hope.

THE TALENT

Patti Mitchell

Patti Mitchell has performed in many of the TSU Opera Workshop and Playmaker productions. She appeared in "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown", Spring 1972; "The King and I", Winter 1973; and "Tosca" Spring, 1973. Patti will probably be most remembered for her role as Anna in "The King and I". Patti was slated to play the lead female role in the Summer 1973 production of "The Music Man", but was involved in an automobile accident just three days before the play opened and was unable to perform.

Patti Mitchell has delighted audiences at Troy State for more than three years. This is a salute to her as one of the talented people at Troy State University.

Donna Reynolds

There are very few students on the Troy State Campus who have not heard the voice of Donna Reynolds at some time or another. She performed for the Miss Venus Pageant and has performed for the Miss TSU Pageant. She also is an honorary member of the Sound of the South. Her love of Troy State is a well known fact and she represents the university well with a dynamic personality and talent.

Jim Bell

The Pied Pipers

The Pied Pipers of Troy State have entertained and delighted thousands of elementary school children across the state. The Pied Pipers pantomime fairy tales for the children and pantomime animal characters as part of their performance.

Doug Nelson serves as the Pied Piper for the group. This troupe is one of the goodwill ambassadors for the University and they do a magnificent job wherever they perform.

All-American

I left yesterday behind me never to look back on what was there.
     To live today for what is here.
 I hold no regret in going this way for I know this is your path.
 I will not go back for this new way is filled with never ending joy.
     Joy that is shared with you.
 I've found a peace of mind that has never been there. Knowing that you placed it there.
 I know a love that there is enough for me to give to everyone and I know this is something you have taught me.
 So I have no regret of leaving yesterday for today is spent in growing in my love for you.

Karla Ptomey, Poet

I can't see you but I know you are here.
 I can't touch you with my hand yet I can feel you with me.
 I can't hear you speaking out loud but I can hear you talking to me.
 I can't tell you anything I know that you don't already know.
 I can't say anything that you haven't heard before.
 But with all these things dear Lord, there is only one thing I can do and that is to love you.

I will not be for others what I am not for myself
 In life you must be what you want and not be as others for our world would be filled with copies of nothing.

Karla's poems printed here are dedicated to the Baptist Student Union

A yearbook is a history book, a photo album, a reference book and a lot of hard work. This Pollodium began in the wee hours of the morning and will end in the wee hours of the morning. Between these two covers are many hours of work and worry that most people won't see or care about. This book holds many special memories for me as it should for everyone. This book is different because everyone who sees it will see something different.

Many people are involved in the making of a yearbook. To the library crew of Dolly Norris, James Clower and Terry Croslin, I say thanks for all the pictures and for covering all those events on short notice because I forgot to call. Also I want to thank Gary Stogner for all the sports information and explaining what some of it meant. I want to thank Dean Gibson and President Adams for trusting me this long, also for their guidance. A special thanks goes to my advisor, Sharon Benton, for all her patience and understanding. Also I want to thank Steve Neshem and Larri Studios for being the best mug shot makers I know. Last, but not least, I want to extend love and appreciation to my staff which I overworked. To Beth, Deborah and Keith: I couldn't have made it without you. To my roommates and sorority sisters who sometimes caught the anger and frustration of the yearbook, I also say thanks for not killing me.

This book has been plagued with problems from the beginning. Some of them have been solved; some will be passed on to the next editor. Actually, all the problems are never solved. The months of this yearbook hanging over my head have ended and I am glad to be a has-been.
